BOGUS GOELET TRIAL

James N. Abeel Before Jury on Charge of Forgery.

WOODED UNDER STOLEN NAME

Used Forged Letter to Obtain Introduction, Posing as Brother of Duchess of Roxburgh—Sued by His Sweetheart For Breach of Promise.

New York, April 22.—Robert Goelet, millionaire chairman and brother of the Duchess of Roxburgh, faced James Neilson Abeel, the wealthy young Texan who used the Goelet's name to win a young girl's love, in Recorder Goff's court.

It was young Goelet's first view of the notorious "J. Ogden Goelet, Jr.," who had brought such unpleasant notoriety upon him just on the eve of Miss May Goelet's marriage.

Back in the courtroom Miss Eleanor Anderson, the good looking daughter of J. M. Parker of Oswego, hope to have the case against their client thrown out of court on legal technicalities. The charge is forgery in the third degree, based on a fictitious letter of introduction signed by J. B. Van Every, vice president of the Western Union Telegraph company, which Abeel used in seeking the acquaintance of Miss Anderson while she was a telegraph operator at the Grand Union hotel.

Thereafter, though living with his wife at 239 Central Park West, Abeel paid her devoted attention, showered her with gifts, proposed marriage to her and accompanied her to the rectory of St. Patrick's cathedral and presented her with a check for $100,000 signed by "J. Ogden Goelet."

The bigamous marriage would doubtless have taken place but for newspaper publication. One of Miss Anderson's girl friends told of her approaching marriage to young Mr. Goelet. The publication of this statement caused Abeel's flight. Young Robert Goelet was placed in an unenviable position and had a most embarrassing time.

His money was responsible for a wide search, which resulted in Abeel's capture in Canada, his extradition and his indictment for forgery in the third degree.

A $75,000 Verdict For the Girl.

Released on $5,000 cash bail, he left the city. Miss Anderson sued him for $75,000 for breach of promise of marriage, and in the failure of the defendant to make an appearance was given judgment for the full amount.

After Assistant District Attorney Lord had outlined the case against James N. Abeel and minutely described his wooing of Miss Eleanor Anderson as "J. Ogden Goelet, Jr.," Miss Anderson was called to the stand. She told in detail how Abeel courted her and proposed marriage and brought her the alleged forged letter.

Governor Brady at Portland.

Portland, Ore., April 22.—Governor Brady of Alaska has reached Portland from Sitka. The purpose of his coming at this time is to confer with the Lewis and Clark management concerning the Alaskan exhibit in 1905. The governor declares that the exhibit which his territory will make here next year will exceed by far that at St. Louis, which is itself the most elaborate ever attempted by the Alaska people.

Watertown's Typhoid Epidemic.

Watertown, N. Y., April 22.—The typhoid epidemic is practically at an end. Since Jan. 1 there have been 600 cases, of which forty-four have proved fatal. There are now sixty-seven active cases. Dr. George A. Soper of New York has concluded his work.

Lockport, N. Y., April 22.—John E. Ponnal, ex-assemblyman, United States commissioner and former chief agent of the Royal Arcanum of the United States, is dead, aged sixty-two years. He was stricken with apoplexy.

BAY STATE POLITICS

Massachusetts Democrats Hold a Tumultuous Convention.

HEARST AND OLNEY CONTEST

Resolutions Instructing Delegates to St. Louis to Vote as a Unit For Richard Olney Denounced as an Outrage by the Hearst Men.

Boston, April 22.—The harmony which was promised before the Massachusetts state Democratic convention met failed to materialize, and the fight between the Olney and Hearst elements was a bitter one.

Mr. Williams, the Hearst leader, said before the convention was opened that inasmuch as the state committee had decided that the insertion of the unit rule clause in the convention call was illegal, the passage in the convention of any resolution intended to control the actions of the district convention delegates would be absolutely futile. He added that if such action were taken the Hearst delegates chosen at the various district conventions would disregard it entirely and vote at the national convention according to their inclinations.

Temporary Organization.

It was 11:42 when State Committee Chairman McNary rapped for order. Temporary organization was quickly effected, and several committees were appointed without objection, but when James B. Carroll of Springfield moved that a committee on resolutions be named, with the qualification that to that committee should be referred all resolutions without reading or debate, there was a stir among the Olney delegates. A voice vote resulted in such an even chorus of yens and nays that the chair was in doubt as to the result. The question was put a second time; again the chair was in doubt. On a rising vote, however, the motion was carried by about 5 to 1. This was considered the first test of the relative strength of the opposing factions.

This was the beginning of a series of motions and counter-motions, which kept the chairman busy. Motions were put and tabled; others were indefinitely postponed, and then efforts were made to consider. Voice votes were doubted, with the inevitable result that on a standing vote the chair was supported by about five to one. One of the questions raised was that a few women, apparently the only spectators, be requested to withdraw. When this was voted down, Chairman McNary explained that the women were "representatives of the press." This announcement was greeted with loud cheers.

The firmness of the chairman finally brought the convention back to the routine, and a recess was taken pending a report by the committee on credentials. On each of the committees reported Hearst delegates had been given from two to four places. With the retirement of the committee on resolutions it became understood that a brief platform would be reported to the convention.

J. J. Flaherty Permanent Chairman.

After it had been prompted, because of its delay, to report forthwith, the credentials committee announced that 804 delegates out of 1,020 entitled to seats were present. One contest was settled by the committee. Then John J. Flaherty of Gloucester was elected permanent chairman. He delivered a twenty-minute address.

Immediately upon the conclusion of Judge Flaherty's speech the convention voted to proceed to the election of four delegates at large to the national convention.

The voting concluded at 2:00. The ballot box was removed preparatory to the counting of the votes. Meanwhile James B. Carroll of Springfield, chairman of the committee on resolutions, took the platform and presented to the convention the following resolutions:

The Democrats of Massachusetts in convention assembled herewith record their conviction that to achieve success in the coming national campaign our committee for president should be some citizen not only acknowledged throughout the Union to be of pre-eminent ability and unquestionable integrity and patriotism, but also one whose proved attachment to the constitution and laws of the United States is a sure pledge that he will obey their injunctions, submit to all their restrictions upon executive authority and execute them personally.

To this end we present to the Democrats of the United States the name of Richard Olney as one conspicuously qualified for the office of president. We present him as a citizen not only of Massachusetts alone, but of the United States, thoroughly acquainted with the needs of our country. Just and impartial toward all its needs, one who has respect for the law in letter and spirit, whose courage and vigor in maintaining our rights, national and international, at home and abroad, have been put to the test and demonstrated in high public office; one who vigorously enforced the traditional policies of our country by protecting a weak sister republic in South America from the encroachments of a strong European power; one in whom the spirit of justice and of scrupulous regard for the rights of the people, singly and collectively, is inborn.

There is no Beauty that can stand the disfigurement of bad teeth. Take care of your teeth. Only one way—

SOZODONT TOOTH POWDER

We hereby instruct the delegates and alternates chosen to attend the national convention at St. Louis by this convention and by the congressional district conventions to place in nomination the name of Richard Olney as the choice of Massachusetts for the Democratic nomination for president, and we further instruct said delegates and alternates to cast the vote of Massachusetts as a unit for him in the convention until the nomination shall be made or his name shall be withdrawn by authority.

The first mention of the name of Richard Olney brought forth prolonged applause. The reading of the resolutions, however, was not further interrupted until that portion was reached which dealt with the "unit rule" for governing the delegates. As this passage was reached there was an uproar. "No! No! It is an outrage!" shouted the members of the Hearst faction. Instantly the convention was in a turmoil. Delegates arose in their seats. Cheers were given for Hearst. Then the Olney men cheered. Back and forth rolled the tumult, each side trying to excel in the volume of its acclamations.

In an instant of quiet John A. Coulthirst arose and announced that he desired to read the minority report of the committee on resolutions.

COLORADO LABOR WAR.

Soldiers and Miners Have Free Fight at Denver Depot.

Denver, April 22.—When the train bearing Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, who is to appear before the supreme court for a hearing on habeas corpus proceedings, arrived, accompanied by a military guard, a general fight followed.

There were a number of persons at the depot to meet the party, among them Secretary Haywood of the Western Federation of Miners. Haywood walked into the train and shook hands with Moyer. Captain Bulkeley Wells immediately made a move toward Haywood to strike him. Haywood knocked Wells down, when two soldiers attacked Haywood, knocking him under a car seat.

Haywood was then arrested and, with Moyer, taken to the Oxford hotel. There the trouble broke out afresh when Haywood knocked two soldiers down. The other troopers making up the guard mixed in the fight, and Haywood was bayoneted and clubbed with muskets until he was insensible. A riot call was turned in, but when the police arrived the soldiers refused to surrender Haywood.

Later Haywood recovered consciousness and was given medical treatment. The military officials stated that they would hold him on a warrant, sworn out some time ago, charging him with desecrating the flag. Chief of Police Armstrong has not yet made a formal demand for the surrender of Haywood, who is constructively under arrest in Denver on a similar charge.

French Shore Treaty.

St. John's, N. F., April 22.—The difficulty over the French shore treaty has been satisfactorily adjusted. France agrees that the clause terminating the fishery on Oct. 20 each year applies only to her fishermen. Newfoundland, Canadian and American fishermen are not restricted in carrying on the winter herring fishery. France also agrees to recognize the British consul at St. Pierre, which will practically end smuggling from that place. Great Britain in return agrees to recognize the French consul at St. John's, now residing here unofficially.

Brigham Roberts Again Testifies.

Washington, April 22.—Brigham H. Roberts was recalled by the defense when the senate committee on privileges and elections resumed its investigation of the protests against Senator Reed Smoot. Mr. Van Cott drew from the witness a review of the elections of Utah to show that the Democratic successes of the state were due to the "silver craze" and that the Mormon church had not maintained a vacillating policy between the two political parties, as had been inferred from the testimony given by Mr. Roberts at the previous session.

Home For Hull House.

Chicago, April 22.—Hull House Woman's club through a gift of $20,000 from Mrs. Joseph Tilton Bowen will be the first women's organization in Chicago to have its own home. Announcement of the donation has just been made at the regular weekly meeting of the club by Miss Jane Addams. The building will be erected on land owned by Hull House adjoining the structure now standing.

President Appoints Postmasters.

Washington, April 22.—The president has sent to the senate the following nominations of postmasters: New York—Anna V. T. Smith, Bronxville; Edward A. Cowles, Patchogue; Oliver H. Tuttle, Rockville-Center. Pennsylvania—Samuel A. Smith, Indianz; Henry D. Ruth, Lansdale; Daniel Williams, Sharon.

Victorian Government Defeated.

Melbourne, Victoria, April 22.—The federal government was defeated in the house of representatives on a Labor party amendment, making the bill providing for the arbitration of labor disputes applicable to state employees. The government opposed the inclusion of state employees and will therefore resign.

Medals For Old Soldiers.

Washington, April 22.—The house committee on military affairs has authorized a favorable report on a bill appropriating $5,000 for medals of honor to the volunteers who responded to President Lincoln's call in 1863 and who served without pay. The medals will go to about 13,000 persons in the states of New York, Pennsylvania and Maryland.

of a Sixth Avenue restaurant keeper, craned her neck for a view of the real Goelet, the man she thought she was going to marry.

Mr. Goelet was particularly anxious to see her. Abeel sat stolidly at the counsel table by his father, Colonel James Abeel of Waco, Tex. The opportunity of seeing the three principal figures in a scandal of international interest brought a curious mob to the criminal court.

Miss Anderson and Mr. Goelet remained in seclusion in the district attorney's office until called to the witness stand.
